

VALLEY IS 75 YEARS YOUNG!

Valley Communications Systems, Inc. (Valley) formerly Valley Cinema, is delighted to announce that on August 15, 2020 it celebrated its 75th anniversary. Founded by Rita and Ed Tremble on victory over Japan day, or "VJ day", Valley Cinema began with humble roots. Rita was a young entrepreneur and Ed was a union projectionist and ice delivery man. Together through hard work, passion, and entrepreneurial vision they were able to take and grow the company from a small camera shop into a security systems, telephony, and audio visual design and integration company.

Valley has always been at the forefront of change and adaptation. Valley's first step in growth was from a local store to a regional business, expanding to cover all of New England. This came in 1949 with the addition of engineered audio solutions. Since, Valley has expanded its business portfolio today to government agencies, municipalities, universities and corporate clients nationwide.

Through the 1950's, security systems were introduced at Valley which helped to cement a strong company foundation for the next 65 years. This allowed Valley to gain valuable customer relationships while building its market presence ultimately leading to customer growth within the burgeoning technology sector.

The 1970's progressed with many changes for Valley and rapid growth through its telephony division. 1971 was a particularly interesting year: This was the year that telephone solutions were introduced to the company when the Carterphone decision opened a very tightly controlled telecommunications industry and allowed for Valley Cinema to begin selling telephone systems and solutions, putting Valley in direct competition with giant Ma-Bell.

The 1980's ushered in the growth of an audio visual division. During this time Valley added schools, small to medium businesses, and large corporations as key clients. Through the 1990's Valley leveraged a strong position in telephony to grow a classroom technology sector. The company formed strategic partnerships to deliver and enrich the classroom experience for students bringing a higher degree of technology to classrooms throughout New England.

In 1994 Valley Cinema officially changed its name to Valley Communications Systems, Inc. Through the early 2000's and into 2020 Valley has continued to grow, learn, and change. It has evolved into a partnership-driven company providing technology stewardship to clients who are industry leaders in their own right. It has made a strong effort to adapt with the marketplace and provide a holistic long-term customer-centric approach to systems integration.

Valley extends a sincere thank you to our customers, employees, manufacturer partners, and distribution partners for the past 75 years of growth and success. We look forward to a new era of growth and development alongside our partners over the next 75 years.
